Feature action of the Al's Drug-Columbia E.R.A. game was a rare triple play in the top half of the seventh inning when Hal Johnson, Al's centerfielder, reached first base on Art Celio's error to set up the action. Next up to bat was Leftfielder Harvey Johnson who advanced Hal to third base by hitting a double to right field. Catcher Marvin Plank scored Hal and advanced Harvey to third when Second-baseman John Fernandez miscued on Plank's roller.

Celio threw back to Resetar for the number two out forcing Harvey Johnson, who had broke for home on the hit while Plank, heading for second, was the final victim in the tripple-killing as Resetar whipped a perfect peg to Firstbaseman Ysidro Flores before the runner could return to the bag.
